

Our History

1999

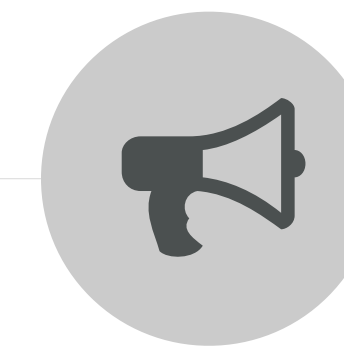

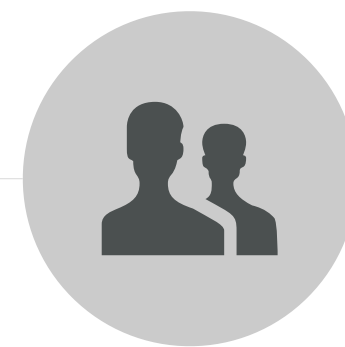

Need for a Peak Body was identified by career practitioners and academics in response to 1992 MCEEYTA statements about career education

2000

First formal meeting held at UTS where vision and mission was agreed upon. Originally known as the Career Consortium of Australia

2004

Government Contract awarded to develop Professional Standards - Scoping paper written - Shaping a career development culture

2000

First informal meeting held in Perth at the IAEVG International Conference

2003

Incorporated in Victoria as the Career Industry Council of Australia

2004

National Forum for Career Practitioners held in Sydney where agreement was reached on the need to develop Professional Standards

Our History

2004/5

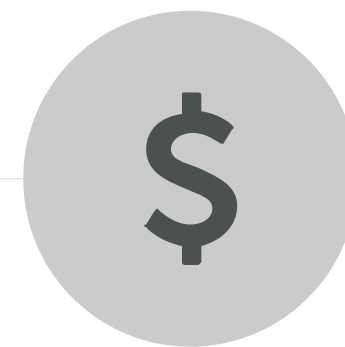

National Consultation Process was conducted on National Standards managed by Miles Morgan. Standards were written based on Association input and feedback

2006

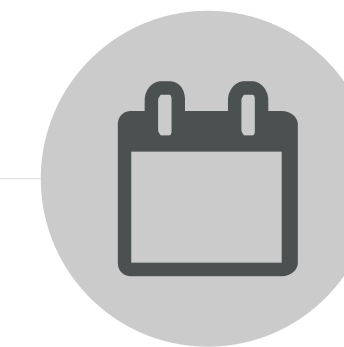

Commissioned a report on the Economic Benefits of Career Development by Access Economics

Host ICCDPP International Symposia

2008

Government contract awarded to run National Career Development Week until 2010

2006

Implementation of Professional Standards Commences

2007

The public benefits of career development services - a position paper released

2012

Key Reports released on Engaging Parents in the Career Development Process, Career Development Guidelines for People with a Disability & VET Career Development Services

Our History

2014

School Career Development
Benchmarking Resource

2015

CICA Council votes in favour of creating CICA Registration

2018

CICA Council agrees to revision of Professional Standards

CICA awarded
Government contract -
VET. It's Right Now.

2015

Research into Career
Development
Practitioners partnering with McCrindle - A
snapshot of career
development
practitioners in schools

2017

Research partnering with McCrindle -What's happening in our schools? Insights into School Based Career Practitioners

2019

Revised Professional
Standards released

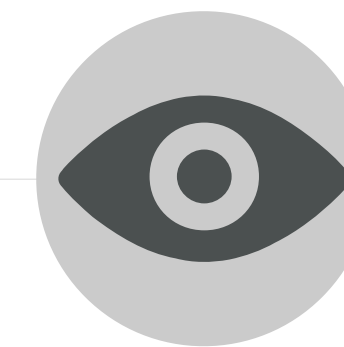

Professional Standards
International Webinar
Series launched

National Careers Week
relaunched

#Work2030 campaign

SA Department for Education Review Career Counselling in Government Schools

Future Ready Career
Education

Our History

2020

National Survey of Career Industry Research released

cica connect launched

Using Digital Communication in Career Development Practice Note released

CICA forms the International Career Development Peak Body Network

2022

Australian Register of Professional Career Development Practitioners is launched on 1 April

Little Ripples - Stage 2 launched

The Blueprint Refresh was completed and new version released

2021

Little Ripples is launched in partnership with the National Careers Institute.

Australian Blueprint for Career Development - Phase 1 Engagement Research Completed

ACTCA joins the CICA Council

2023

CICA hosts the first International Green Careers and Sustainability Month

Nationwide professional learning rolled out for the new version of the Blueprint.

Little Ripples - Regional, Rural and Remote research undertaken

